A cultural system is the interaction of different elements of culture. While a cultural system is quite different from a social system, sometimes both systems together are referred to as the sociocultural .

The rationalization of this research was an exploration and discrimination about humanizing research culture system through Quality Assurance Practices (QAP) in the Universities in Pakistan pertaining to the views of students, teachers and Directors of Quality Enhancement Cells (QEC's). Some cultural anthropologists would describe the cultural systems as "big C" (macroculture) and "little C" (microculture). The macroculture A larger cultural system. refers to a larger cultural system, for example, Catholicism is a culture that is not bounded by geography. Good examples of cultural systems are all around us. You can look at the elements that govern the way people construe ideas and behaviors, and collectively, these elements make up a cultural system. This is a simplistic definition, but one that we. (1) Culture is a holistic "system" with continuities between the interrelated components of that system. (2) Culture provides rules and routines that facilitate order, regularity, familiarity, and predictability to what is otherwise a disorganized world of people, things, and acts.
